

The 7th Symposium on Challenges for Carbon-based Nanoporous Materials: 7CBNM

October 18-21, 2023 in Nagano 長野

We have organized the symposium on Challenges for Carbon-based Nanoporous Materials (CBNM) to have mutual stimulations which induce high quality research on adsorption, separation, and nanoporous materials, and interfaces through an interdisciplinary collaboration with active researchers. Optimum sized CBNM symposium can enhance fruitful discussions and strengthening mutual friendship for a creative science.

Very fortunately excellent scientists will join the 7CBNM in Nagano and we should have the really nice symposium. The scientific program consists of invited oral papers and general poster papers.

You could enjoy newly developing science at 7CBNM with outstanding scientists of different disciplines under full of greens and fresh air.

Symposium Venue: AICS Building, Wakasato Campus of Faculty of Engineering
Shinshu University 信州大学, Nagano

(Walking distance from Nagano JR station, 20-25 min, or bus and taxi are available)

Accommodation

Could you book your favorite hotel by yourself? There are many hotels near Nagano JR station. The Nagano JR station has two entrances of Zenkouji(善光寺)-guchi and Higashi(東)-guchi. As the Zenkouji is a famous national treasure and there are many hotels, shops, and restaurants near Zenkouji-guchi. Higashi-guchi is closer to Engineering Campus Shinshu University and there are new hotels.

Symposium Venue Meeting room in AICS building (2nd Floor) near the campus gate of Faculty of Engineering, Shinshu University.
