Student Advisory and Counseling Center

Our staff includes clinical psychologists and public psychologists, who work as student consultation coordinators and provide support for handicapped students, as well as dedicated office personnel. ### Support for International Students

Shinshu University has international student residences in Matsumoto and Nagano, which are available for lower rents than private apartments. Scholarships include those sponsored by the government and private scholarship organizations, as well as scholarships provided by the University itself. There is also a tutoring system that provides support for international students with both their education/research and their day-to-day life.

Extracurricular Activities

At each of the campuses and faculties located throughout Nagano Prefecture, students participate in numerous extracurricular activities, and about 240 student clubs and organizations are registered with the University. With a participation rate of over 80%, the first-year students in particular pursue these activities with enthusiasm and commitment alongside their academic studies.
